Cyril Hamilton drives a new Overland car.

Frank Miller is in Chicago on business this week.

After spending several weeks here, Charles Filley started on the return trip to Colmar, New Mexico on Tuesday. He likes the West and will probably make that his permanent home.

Mrs. Alice Grimes who has been in ill health for several months arrived at her Paw Paw home the first of this week. While she is not yet strong, she is greatly improved in health and able to walk around town. Her local friends are hoping for speedy restoration to former health.

Steps were taken at a meeting of soldiers in Memorial hall last Saturday evening for a local branch of the American Legion. Mark Chaffee was chairman of the meeting and Howard Parks, secretary. A committee consisting of Father Vincent Toole, Frank Isbell and Glenn E. Warner was appointed to select a name for the post, and to report at a meeting to be held on Saturday evening of this week. Application for charter was made and a local Post will soon be in operation here. It is hoped that every returned soldier of the world war will be present at the meeting this week.

visit the camp. Visitors should bring their own table equipment if they plan to be present at meal time. On Sunday Divine worship will be conducted and the day will be spent in keeping with the occasion. Monday August 4th, will be Field day. This day will present an attractive program for visitors. Every scout has been earning and saving money for this trip. The funds that were raised on Tag day will go for a better equipment; to help sustain the National organization and to help pay the rent for a hall for local scout headquarters. There is also some demand for a Junior Scout organization which will be organized some time in the near future. The people of Paw Paw and vicinity responded nicely on Tag Day. The total sum for the day being $244.77. The Scouts appreciate this fine showing and desire through these columns to express their gratitude to the business men of Paw Paw and to every person who contributed to the fund.

Wednesday morning of this week the Boy Scouts started for the beautiful camping grounds on Greenman's Landing, Christie Lake, where they will spend a week in camp. A large truck loaded down with tents, camp equipment and provisions accompanied the expedition. Mr. Underhill accompanied the party to superintend the cooking. There are about thirty in the crowd and Scoutmaster Percy Nickless and Assistant Scoutmaster Edward E. Shouffler have made out a complete program in Scouting which will provide something worth while for every minute of every day. The program will consist of flag raising, instructions in scoutcraft, athletics, including swimming, rowing, volley ball, horse shoe pitching, in-door and out-door base ball, study periods, camp fires possibly one "hike" and a general Field day. At various times the grounds will be policed and inspection will be conducted in a very thorough manner. Those interested in the program, especially parents of the boys may feel free to Theodore Ferguson is working on the road job east of town, and Tom Pole, another Paw Paw graduate has a position with the Miller Brothers Pickle company. It is the boys who are willing to work during vacation who make the greatest success as men in after life.

A recent bit of news from Brest, France was a shock to Paw Paw people. Ray Curtis, one of our own soldier boys was the victim of an accident which cost him a leg. He was at Brest awaiting a transport home, and when the accident happened was a spectator at the army athletic games. A seat section gave way, and Ray was one of the unfortunate ones to go down. A broken leg and badly torn knee joint, necessitated amputation above the knee. It is hard luck to get through the world war without a scratch and then suffer an accident which cost a limb before being discharged from service.

GAME FISHING

by DIXIE CARROLL

Author of LAKE and STREAM GAME FISHING

JUST ORDINARY OL' PICKEREL.

My Dear Buck:

If there is one of the fish family that we remember from the knee-pants and bent-pin stage of the fishing game, it sure must be Ol' Judge Pickerel and the young "picks." It certainly made your heart do a double-quick and started the cold creeps up your spine, the first time you hooked a pickerel, after a kindergarten course on chubs and sunnies. You probably had a long cane pole or a young sapling cut from the nearby wooded shore; anyway, from that time on you realized that there was "some sport" to the game. Since then, of course, the ol' pickerel has been sorta dropped into the discard, and it takes trout, bass or muskie, perhaps, to start the joy trips up along your vertebrae. But let me tip you off straight, Buck, there's many a good fighter left in the pickerel outfit, regardless of the many slurs cast upon his fighting qualities by some of the ultra-exclusive high-brows in the angling derby.

Find Pickerel Most Anywhere.

The pickerel is one of the fish that you can fish for nearly anywhere, and you don't have to make a five hundred to one thousand mile trip to his "home grounds." He is a common, ordinary cuss that can pick up a living on next to nothing, and at the same time raise a mighty big family. In nearly "civilized" waters he will even make a sure-enough professional fisherman sit up and take notice at his ability to evade the bait and make said fisherman use all his skill and wits to induce him to take the lure. The more he is fished for the wiser he gets, and to land a few fair-sized pickerel in much-fished waters takes keen work, more so than for the gamier fish in the usual fish haunts of the North woods. As a rule the pickerel found in local waters does not grow to excess size, say an average of two or three pounds. Some are larger, of course, but not the general run.

Where the Pickerel Hangs Out.

The pickerel from the running streams, like all other fish, puts up the best fight, while those from the warmer waters of the lakes and sluggish streams are dull and slow fighters. The pickerel is found in nearly all rivers and lakes or ponds, his preference being for shallow, grassy lakes. His main hunting grounds are along the edge of lily and weed beds and on the outskirts of the grassy growth that is often called "pickerel grass." Here he lurks, waiting for the smaller fish to swim past, often striking his prey with a snap of the jaws that cuts the victim in twain. He is a sure-enough barbarian, and is a destroyer of the weaker fishes, all of which points to the fact that he will be with us for many a day. He is vicious to the core, and at times will strike a trolling spoon with force enough to bend it double. In spring-fed lakes he is often found around the spring-holes, and deep fishing here will bring him out. You can feel reasonably sure of landing him any time from the first of the season to the windup, and then take a rap at him through the ice in winter.

Needs Dentist in August.

August is about the poorest month for pickerel fishing, caused, no doubt, by the soreness of the gums, as claimed by many of the old-timers. The "muskie," a cousin of the pickerel, loses his teeth in August, while the pickerel itself has a swelling of the gums during dogdays that does not put him in a humor to bite on anything. Late September and early October is about the best all-round pickerel season, at which time he is found in the shallows, at the mouth of outlets or inlets, where the feed is good. Troll and Cast for Him.

Although trolling is the surest method of landing the pickerel, much sport can be had by casting for him, using light bass tackle. A weedless hook with a small frog, shiner or minnow for bait, and a single spinner is all you need. Row along the weed-beds, about seventy-five feet out and cast in toward the edge, landing your bait about five feet from the edge. Give the pickerel a little time before striking as he grabs the live bait and darts back to his lair, there to turn it around in his mouth and swallow it head first. Strike sharply and row away from the weeds. Bear this in mind: he may come up to the boat with ease, but he makes his big effort for liberty after you bring him up to the boat.

The usual way to get him is by trolling with a spoon or spinner. Take a No. 4½ tandem spinner with a treble hook bucktailed or feathered, or a No. 4 spoon and you have an excellent trolling rig. A chunk of pork rind adds to the attractiveness of the lure.

DIXIE.

Now that the Treaty IS SIGNED

And most of the boys are home again--busy at their old or at new work;

And industries of peacetimes are preparing to catch up with the needs of the world---

Let us consider carefully the great part this nation must play, that all peoples may enjoy the benefits of peace.

Whether personally engaged in active work incident to reconstruction or not, each of us can help by practicing thrift at all times.

A thrift account with this institution is an excellent way to register determination to be a real factor in the world's rebuilding.
